RESEARCH INTERESTS

Research Activity

I am associate professor, since July 2022, at the Department of Enterprise Engineering of the University of Rome Tor Vergata and member of the Artificial Intelligence group at Tor Vergata (ART) since 2002.

My research activity revolves around the areas of Knowledge Engineering Knowledge Acquisition and Knowledge Based Systems, bringing in solutions and approaches from the fields of Machine Learning, Natural Language Processing and Software Engineering.

My PhD thesis, in 2004, focused on semantic integration at large, through the exploitation of lexical information and resources, and envisioning a future web in which lexical resources would play a fundamental role in semantic mediation activities, performed by autonomous agents being able to identify the context of a communication between peers and support with their reconciliation skills. Today, part of this vision is becoming true, thanks to initiatives such as the Linguistic Linked Open Data (<http://www.linguistic-lod.org/>) and to models for representation of lexical knowledge such as OntoLex-Lemon (<https://www.w3.org/community/ontolex/>) to the development of which I actively participated. The other part, the lexical/semantic mediation, which I described also in a later work [16] following my PhD dissertation, is still a vision, though the building blocks for its realization are also being laid down. The metadata module of OntoLex, called LIME (LInguistic MEtadata) [22], which I contributed to the OntoLex working group, is in fact bringing to a standard much of the ideas I described 10 years before.

My proficiencies in Software Engineering have been useful in identifying reproducible processes and actors that can enable interesting ecosystems for carrying out AI tasks such as Knowledge Acquisition and Integration on an industry scale. I am leading the CODA project (<http://art.uniroma2.it/coda/>) with the intent to give birth to a reusable platform for knowledge acquisition from unstructured content, building on top of already existing platforms for Unstructured Information Management such as Apache UIMA (<http://uima.apache.org/>). CODA applies the same principles of the Semantic Web (e.g. “everything is a URI”, “follow your nose”, etc..) to a platform for sharing Knowledge Acquisition components associated to target ontologies and being described themselves in terms of ontology vocabularies. CODA is not yet mature for the “community vision” representing its ultimate direction, though it already represents a useful piece of software adopted in other more notable projects, such as Semantic Turkey [15] and VocBench [5][37].

VocBench, a collaborative web-platform for knowledge management and acquisition based on Semantic Web standards, represents a successful open-source project that has gathered a large community of stakeholders, ranging from scientists to companies and large organizations producing linked open data. My experiences with international organizations (which led to the following results [10][12][13]) convoluted into the project together with my expertise in Knowledge Engineering, towards the realization of a platform offering innovative research results while keeping steadily on the ground of the requirements expressed by this community. Since the end of 2020, VocBench is being accompanied by ShowVoc, a complementary system born with knowledge sharing and publication in mind.

A further area of interest, unfortunately only lightly touched in my research life, is represented by Information Retrieval in Music, with particular attention to symbolic notation and the identification of music genre and other related categories. The analysis of music pieces expressed through symbolic notation (as in the MIDI format, or other standards such as MusicXML) allows the researcher to focus on the most inherent structural and semantic aspects of music, disburdened from the influence that the sound spectrum also has.

In my short participation to the Music IR community, I have managed to participate to a Information Categorization contest, with interesting results [89] and to publish a work on Music IR based on Machine Learning techniques [92] which is still today one of the most cited work in the area.

Activity in Industry

I'm the legal owner of Lore Star srl, a company acting on development and consultancy in the fields of Semantic Web, NLP and Knowledge Based Systems.

I'm also one of the 5 associates of DEVIT srls, a university spin-off working on other related topics of my research activity. The company is currently under procedure of accreditation as an official spin-off of the University of Rome Tor Vergata

Participation to international committees/groups for the definition of standards

- Research Data Alliance – Agriculture Data Interest Group: From November 2016 to December 2018, I have been chairing the Agriculture Data Interest Group, an interest group of the Research Data Alliance (<https://www.rd-alliance.org/>) working as an umbrella for several working groups working on semantic standards for the Agriculture community. The Research Data Alliance (RDA) is an international organization - comprising individuals, organizations and policy makers representing multiple industries and disciplines - focused on the development of infrastructure and community activities aimed to reduce barriers to data sharing and exchange, and promote the acceleration of data driven innovation worldwide.
- Ontolex: I've been member of Community Group of the World Wide Web Consortium (W3C) Ontolex (<https://www.w3.org/community/ontolex/>) for the whole duration of the project (2012-2015). Objective of the group is the realization of a suite of vocabularies for describing interfaces between ontologies and lexicons. The final specification is available at: <https://www.w3.org/2016/05/ontolex/>. I have contributed to the definition of the core Lemon/Ontolex model, and specifically contributor and responsible for the metadata module LIME (see below).
- Lime: a Linguistic Metadata Vocabulary. Contributed to the Community Group of the World Wide Web Consortium (W3C) Ontolex (<https://www.w3.org/community/ontolex/>) as the metadata module for the Ontolex model. (specification at: <https://www.w3.org/2016/05/ontolex/#metadata-lime>)

Open Source Projects

- VocBench: a web-based, multilingual, collaborative development platform for managing OWL ontologies, SKOS(XL) thesauri, Ontolex-lemon lexicons and generic RDF datasets
<http://vocbench.uniroma2.it/>
- ShowVoc: a web-based, multilingual, platform for publishing and consulting OWL ontologies, SKOS(XL) thesauri, Ontolex-lemon lexicons and generic RDF datasets
<http://showvoc.uniroma2.it/>
- Semantic Turkey: a Semantic Web Knowledge Management and Acquisition tool
<http://semanticturkey.uniroma2.it/>
- CODA: an extension of the UIMA (Unstructured Information Management Architecture) architecture and framework for projecting information extracted from unstructured content sources onto RDF knowledge repositories.
<http://art.uniroma2.it/coda/>
- Sheet2RDF: a platform for acquisition and transformation of datasheets into RDF. Available also as a plugin for Semantic Turkey and RDF.
<http://art.uniroma2.it/sheet2rdf/>
- OntoLing: a tool for Linguistic Enrichment of ontologies (available as extension for different ontology development platforms)
<http://art.uniroma2.it/ontoling>
- OWL ART API: API for accessing and managing RDF. These API provide various implementations for several existing triple stores (Sesame2, Allegrograph, Jena, Protege) and allow RDF management for all existing standard vocabularies of the RDF family (RDF, RDFS, OWL, SKOS, SKOS-XL)
<http://art.uniroma2.it/owlart/>
- JMWNL: Java (Multi)WordNet Library: a set of extensions to the JWNL library allowing access to WordNets for different languages (currently supports EuroWordNet)
<http://art.uniroma2.it/jmwnl/>
- RangeAnnotator: The RangeAnnotator extension transforms Semantic Turkey into a true Semantic Annotation System, by replacing the standard annotation mechanism with one producing RangeAnnotations (through use of W3C standard: x-pointers)
<http://semanticturkey.uniroma2.it/extensions/rangeannotator/>
- The UIMAST (UIMA-ST Integration) extension is an ongoing attempt to integrate the Apache UIMA Framework into Semantic Turkey. On the one hand the extension turns Semantic Turkey into a full-fledged UIMA development environment and on the other hand it uses UIMA technologies to automatically generate metadata about web pages.
<http://semanticturkey.uniroma2.it/extensions/uimast/>
- OBI-WAN: Ontology-Based Wrapper Induction. A tool based on prolog technology implementing Soderland's wrapper induction techniques where Semantic lookup foreseen by Soderland's algorithms is boosted by available ontology content. (recently dismissed)
<http://art.uniroma2.it/obewan/>

The VocBench project in particular represents an important and interesting achievement, in which different solutions adopted in other projects converge. VocBench is indeed supported by the RDF Management platform Semantic Turkey and includes systems for the acquisition and management of unstructured information such as CODA and Sheet2RDF. VocBench has met large acknowledgment on a world-wide scale, reaching the status of recommended platform by the EU for the P.A.s of all of its member states for the collaborative management of public datasets and being adopted by many organizations, agencies and companies needing a robust and advanced platform for managing ontologies, thesauri and lexicons. Some of these include:

- Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) > AGROVOC, Biotechnology, Land and Water, FAO Topics

- EU Documentation Office > EUROVOC
- US Department of Agriculture (USDA) > NALT (National Agricultural Library Thesaurus) and other thesauri/ontologies
- United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP) > InforMEA, in the context of MEA, the Information and Knowledge Management Initiative
- Italian Senate > TESEO
- European Environment Agency (EEA) > GEMET
- Harvard University > Unified Astronomy Thesaurus (UAT)
- EC Parliament Library
- Institut National de la Recherche Agronomique (INRA) > in the context of AnaEE France project (ecosystems and biodiversity thesaurus) and Délégation à l'information scientifique et technique (DIST)
- CABI
- United Nations Convention to Combat Desertification (UNCCD)
- Scottish Government > Gov metadata
- Columbia University > IEDA Thesaurus
